Hello, my gorgeous souls. And welcome back to The Manifestation Babe podcast. I am super excited that you decided to push play on today's episode because with me today. I have Hannah Summerhill, who just so happens to be a manifestation babe Academy alumni; who finished in the first and only launch. That we had in 2021 in the beginning, where I spent the first six months of this year building this program. So Hannah is one of the students who got to experience it firsthand as I built it out. And of course, if you're listening to this podcast episode right now, it means that we have opened the doors to another round of the Manifestation Babe Academy. Now I know that there are so many of you who've probably heard of the Manifestation Babe Academy, which I call MBA for short, you have probably seen some transformations. You've heard people talking about it. You've obviously heard me talking about it non stop. And I know that there are so many of you guys who are either on the fence, and would like to hear some student success stories. And just to show you guys that everyone has the same apprehensions, the same fears. Everyone has this moment where they're sitting on the fence, unsure if they should say yes to a course. So I want you guys to experience a couple of my students this week on the podcast as expanders of what is possible and to also normalize that it is okay to be uncertain. And also for any of you guys who already signed up, because I know every launch there's a slew of you who get in right away because maybe you've been on the waitlist for a while. Maybe you have been waiting and watching for when the doors open. So May this serve as excitement of what is to come your way. Hannah is someone who is so amazing and her and her business partner actually going to come back for another episode on the Manifestation Babe Academy to talk more about their work as founders of the Kinswomen and I will have Hannah of course explain what that is. And what their work is. And her story and the incredible things that she has manifested from MBA. So without further ado, if you haven't yet got into the course, go to manifestationbabeacademy.com. Any moment that you feel ready, your body is telling you Yes. Your soul is telling you Yes. Everything in your being is telling you yes. Even if you have any nervousness or any of those jitters or any you know voice inside your head that tells you "maybe this is not a good idea". But everything in your body is telling you yes it is. At any moment that you feel that, go ahead and roll. Sign up. Doors close on Friday. So you only have until Friday at midnight. Go to ManifestationBabeAcademy.com and without further ado, let's dive into today's episode. Alright guys! today on a podcast I have the beautiful Hannah. Is it summer hill? Is that how you pronounce your last name? Last summer hill on here; who is an MBA alumni student. Hannah, thank you so much for coming on the podcast and sharing your experience, and story with us. I appreciate it so much.

H

Hannah Summerhill 04:42

Oh, thank you so much Kathrin! I'm giddy to be here. And to talk to you live after you know watching you on the modules for for four months. So this is such such an exciting moment for me.

K

Kathrin Zenkina 04:54

Oh, amazing! Well Hannah, before we dive into you know, you sharing your experience.

Which I have seen some of the things that you've manifested. And it's just so mind blowing. So I'm excited to dive into more of like the stories behind that. But before we dive into all of that, can you just share a little bit about yourself. And some of your work and what you do?

H

Hannah Summerhill 05:17

Sure. So, my name is Hannah, I was telling you a little bit before we started that I just moved to California from New York. And the past couple years have been very transformative for me. And for a lot of people. But I grew up in Pennsylvania. And you know, my story. You know, I come from very humble beginnings. And I grew up always wondering. You know, "why aren't we rich? Why don't we have money?". You know, just kind of feeling like: if I had to verbalize it now, how I was feeling when I was younger, it was like I thought I was maybe royalty in a past life. And then that somehow messed up to be living the life that I had been born into. My parents were amazing, super loving. But they would say, you know, we're rich in love. Not money. So to me, it was okay, you can have one or the other. And I'm so so grateful for their love and support. But I was also super motivated to make money. And to live this life that I wanted. And I grew up my view into a larger, greater world because I grew up in a small town in Pennsylvania, was reading magazines. So magazines would come to the house, I wouldn't let my sisters read them before I had read everything cover to cover. And when I went to school in New York, I got an internship at a magazine at "Lucky Magazine". And it was a dream come true. From there, I got an internship at Vogue. I just felt like I was living my dream. And then I graduated, lived in Manhattan, worked at "Shave magazine", worked at "Vogue" worked at "Cosmo" worked every place that I kind of envisioned as a young girl. But I was absolutely miserable. When I was there, it was such an ego job. I was really struggling. And though I was making money, I just felt really spiritually lost. And the stress from the piece of the city and the jobs and the expectations to look and be a certain way. We're really affecting my health. So in 2020, I ended up leaving my magazine job at Cosmo. And I had started a podcast the year before in 2019. With my business partner, my now business partner is Yseult Polfliet. We had met at an event about race in 20, early 2019. And it was about bridging the gaps between women of color and white women. And having been married to a black man. And then with him for the past eight years. It wasn't really until I started dating my husband that I started to really really recognize my privilege, my white lens, my white viewpoint of the world, and how different it was from other people who are not white in this country. So I was really getting into activism. I was really getting into my own anti-racism work and journey as an aspiring ally, when I met her, and we started a podcast called kinswomen. And it was all about bridging the gaps between people of color and white people. And building trust between women. And recognizing why the trust between women of color and white women had been broken. So my soul is just telling me to quit my job and to do kinswomen full time, even though it didn't really make sense. But I left my job in January of 2020. And now we do kinswomen full time and we got a book deal. We have a podcast, we do classes, and we are trying to change the world.

K

Kathrin Zenkina 09:07

I am so excited. I was telling Hannah before we started recording this episode that as I was getting ready and like looking at my lineup of incredible MBA students who are coming on the podcast to share their stories. I was like, wait, Hannah, I know her. Wait a second, I absolutely freaking love her. And I love her and her business partner and the work that they do. And so I was like, Wait a second, I want them on the podcast to talk more about what you guys actually do with the kinswomen. And bridging, you know, the gaps between women of color, and white women and expanding that conversation and bringing, you know the manifestation piece into that and how that works as well. And so I'm excited to do that interview with you guys later. It's just it's so incredible the work that you guys do. And your energy between you two, it's like it's meant to be. And I'm just excited to see all the success that comes your way from the work that you do. Because I can just see that you guys are truly in your purpose. That's like the number one thing that I saw from you guys. So really excited. What, Hannah, what is the thing that got you to be like, okay, there's this program the Manifestation Babe Academy and like, I need to sign up. Like what was life like, you know, you share the nice progression between like, where you came from and how you quit your job and what you ended up doing or what you're still doing.. Like, what was that thing that got you to be like, "okay, something is missing, or there's something I need to tweak, or there's something that I can learn from this, that makes me want to sign up". I'm just so curious what that moment was for you.

K

Kathrin Zenkina 10:45

So as I shared, I think growing up, I had this view that you could make money doing something that you liked, or that was your purpose. Both my parents had very purpose driven jobs. And so that belief that I couldn't have both really, you know, stuck with me. So I was, you know, kinswomen wasn't really sustainable for for us and for MBA, you know, I followed you since October, I found you on Instagram, a first time is really triggered, because I was like, Oh my gosh, she's like living life. She's so young. And I was like, well, it's too late for me. Like I'm already 34, which is like, so funny to think about now. So I'm so like, I I'm more curious about my triggers, then, sort of going into judgment, just kind of exploring what that means about me, which this Yeah, definitely helped me with. But every time I've made an investment in myself, it's always paid off. And you talk about that so much. It's like, we are our own best investment and the business. The business wasn't working for me. And it wasn't working for me for a couple of reasons. First of all, I was applying this white patriarchal capitalist energy to our business that is about anti racism. And I have learned that idea of productivity and business equaling worthiness from all my corporate jobs, magazines, where it was hustle, hustle, run in heels, and I was trying to take all that and apply it to our work. And, you know, my partner was like, What is the urgency? Like, what is the rush like? And I was realizing that I was basically trying to force our business into something that it wasn't. So I knew there had to be a better way. And after following your podcast, and doing epically aligned and having a really awesome friend, who was my accountability partner through the program, she said, I'm signing up, aren't you? And it was such a, it was such a, she was so casual about it that I was like, Well, yeah, I guess I am signing up. And then I thought, why not? Why would I not do this? I want to do this so badly. So every time I listened to your podcast, I'd be like, that program. Sounds amazing. But I'm not gonna do it. And I thought, why am I not going to do it? And it was the best decision.

K

Kathrin Zenkina 13:03

Ah! amazing. Okay, I want to learn more about like, okay, you sign up for the program, you're taking the program. When did you start noticing things start to click for you? like not even the manifestations. Because a lot of people think it's all about manifestations. And I'm feeling super inspired right now to record a podcast episode this week about how manifestation has gotten this bad rap nowadays. Because so many people see, you know, the product of manifestation being like, luxury, and, private jets and Chanel bags and all this stuff. And like, I know that you know, that I teach that it's so much more than that. But I feel like there needs to be more of a conversation around that. That manifestation, these things are an awesome side effect. They're an awesome byproduct, if that's what you truly desire from a very heart centered space, not from an ego space. But manifestation is so much bigger than that. And a lot of what manifestation how it manifests, ironically, is that it starts with the shifts in perception. It starts with the shifts in perspective. It's like how you mentioned that instead of, you know, letting your triggers turn into something that stops you. You decided to get curious about: "Hmm, why is that triggering me? Why is Kathrin triggering me? And what is that? What can I learn from this right? How can I expand from this space? How can I shift this?" And so I love to ask my students like okay, what is like the first thing that shifted for you on a very like energetic mental space, before it manifested into the physical space? What was that for you where you're like, Okay, this shit is working.

K

Kathrin Zenkina 14:45

Hmm. The program is so, so deep. I took three notebooks full of notes during this program. And I don't even recognize who I am from the beginning. I forgot who that was. Until I was prepping for this podcast and reading back through my whole journey through MBA. So I think the first, thing that was just felt so powerful was that anything is possible. And that there is so much magic and possibility in this world that I'm not seeing. And that my mind can be my biggest enemy. And my best friend. And also like, let's question everything, I think that's something that you really inspire us to do is question everything. And we don't even have to have answers, just the questions can be enough to sit in. So that I think just, you open the program so beautifully with the foundation phase. And like learning all the laws of the universe, those just blew my mind. I watched that module several times. I made my husband watch, I was like, "This is amazing!". I was just blown away by some of these concepts that you were introducing. And at first, honestly, it felt like a lot of information. And there's always this moment to where I'm like, "I've been doing it wrong this whole time". You know, and kind of that shame of like, "No wonder your life looks like this". but also just taking responsibility for how my life looks and feeling unattached about about those feelings associated. And then recognizing that I can create. So that was like the most powerful thing. But the manifestations didn't come for a couple of weeks.

K

Kathrin Zenkina 16:25

Yes. And that's what I want to share with people, like a fucking broken record, you guys is that there is, it's almost like a trauma response to want things to happen instantly. And if they're not happening instantly, then it extends our nervous system to like just completely dysregulate. And then we operate from this dysregulated place, which, you know, has such deep roots. As I know, your work goes into this patriarchal, very white supremacist like structure and system that we have in place; where we are constantly in a rush. Like we're operating from the sympathetic nervous system of (fight or flight) that things need to happen or they're not working or there's something wrong with me. Bah, bah, bah, bah, bah, bah, bah. And so I want to keep stressing and I love that you're mentioning that there is this beautiful void that we have to go into, where we have to be at peace with just learning and being. And just like, you know, when you plant the seed, the seed isn't sprout right away, there's this beautiful void that the plant goes into. And so often we go into that space before we sprout. And so I love that you mentioned that the manifestations didn't happen instantly. But eventually they do happen. So what started manifesting for you or like, what was that process that experience like for you?

K

Kathrin Zenkina 17:45

So the process, it can be a little scary at first. As I mentioned, before we started recording, the power that you realize is in your hands can be a little overwhelming. And one of my goals for this class was to get a book deal for kinswomen. And we've been working with an agent. We've been writing a proposal since October. We've started. We've been working with an agent since last October, but had been writing our proposal since last August. And you know, writing a book is something that I've always desired to do. And getting to deal with easily getting to do as the kinswomen, it just felt like such a soul's desire. So I wrote down that I wanted to manifest a book deal by February 26, which is my birthday. And I'm a specific manifester, which I know now in Human Design. So that specificity worked for me. And the month of February, that was the first month of the class. It was super intense. I mean, I was going through a lot. I would say the first six to eight weeks of the class. And you luckily prepared us for all of that. But I was having headaches. I was having trouble sleeping. I was crying all the time. Everything that was brought up through the release phase. But thank God that came through. On my birthday, I was feeling so much love. My husband and I were in Ohai. You know, I'm getting all these beautiful messages from people. And you know, it's like, on your birthday or like on your wedding day. It's like there's so much love coming towards you that everything just feels so magical. Yes. Yeah. Like I'm sure you felt like your wedding day was like the best most magical day. There's just like you're in a vortex of love. And we should all aim to bring that energy like wedding day energy into like our every day.

 Kathrin Zenkina 19:35
I love that. Yes.

 Hannah Summerhill 19:37
Right? So on my birthday, I was feeling so much love. And she called me and she said she loved me the most beautiful voicemail. And it was like, "you know, I love you.. Happy birthday!". Check the email. There's a special surprise in there. And I thought no way, like no way. And it was a letter from our agent saying that there was an interested party from HarperCollins and print. which blew my freaking mind. I was like, it was one of those things where I'm just almost questioning "Did I really? Did I really write this down? Am I just kind of this confirmation bias?", but it was it was crazy. We got the the letter from the interested party on my birthday.

 Kathrin Zenkina 20:23
Oh, my God. Holy shit. Congratulations first and foremost, like, that is so exciting. And I know you mentioned that it was like a five figure book deal to like no big deal. Wow.

 Hannah Summerhill 20:39
Yeah, and the crazy thing is, too, is that we did not have a big following when we got our book deal. We had maybe 1500 followers. So Wow. You don't need a lot of Instagram followers to to live your purpose. To have them you know, I get amazing manifestations. I fall into that trap sometimes where I'm like, you know, we need more we need a bigger audience. We need to reach more people but it's incredible to me and it really speaks to A) The power of manifestation and B) The fact that our agent and editors believed in our work so much that they they gave us this opportunity.

K

Kathrin Zenkina 21:16

Wow, well, I can't wait to read your guys' book. That is incredible. And I know you guys also had a course launch around the time of MBA. Can you share a little bit about that course launch? Because things weren't going your way at first. And then something happened? What was that?

H

Hannah Summerhill 21:32

Oh my god. I shared this in the MBA Facebook group, and it still blows my mind. Okay, so this is where your work really started to click. And this was probably like a good eight weeks. And so I just want to tell anybody who's in the program, like, have patience. Trust the process. So we had launched a course for anti-racist entrepreneurs. And in early March, we had one signup. And we've done everything we'd send out our newsletters. We've promoted on social. You know, everything that we done in the past for courses. And, again, we just had one sign up. So I was making it me and all these things about me Kathrin. I was making it mean that I our work was worthless, that I was worthless. It was bringing up all these worthless feelings from childhood. It was every possible feeling that could come up through this launch, came up. It's such a mirror for all the hidden shadows that I had to work on. Which I'm really grateful to have been able to release and integrate. But I decided okay, we don't have any signups. How about we just push the course back? It was supposed to start like the next day. And I said, What if we just push it back one week, see what can happen in a week. And what I love about my business partner is she's like, "Yeah, no problem." Like she is like this, so calm and cool and collected. And I'm the one in my head about everything all the time. So we reached out to the one student who had signed up and we said, "we're going to push it back". And I was so embarrassed to even tell her because I was like, she's gonna think like, we just don't have our crap together. And she was like, "Oh, this works out so much better for me. Great!" I'm like, Okay, so that's a good sign. So it was a Monday, we had a week to launch and I thought, "okay, I'm really gonna do the steps, the condensed steps of manifestation that you teach". So first, decide to find and declare what I wanted. We wanted a sold-out-class. The second was embody the version of myself, who already had those students, those amazing students in our class. The third, surrender the how. And the fourth take inspired action as it comes. Did I get that right?

Kathrin Zenkina 23:49

Yes, you did.

Hannah Summerhill 23:51

Okay, good. So I thought, okay, the embodied version of myself. It's not stressing about the class. She's celebrating all the awesome students who have come into the class. So I said, "Okay, no marketing, no thinking about this today. I'm going to go get a manicure, I'm going to get a haircut. I'm going to get my back cracked". And so I did all those things. I just felt really good. And then, you know, still nothing happened. Nothing happened. But I was like, I'm just gonna relax. I'm going to be super, you know, I'm just going to watch a movie with my husband. We're just going to chill. That was Monday. Tuesday, same thing. I'm not stressing, but you know, the feelings are coming up and I'm like, nope, choosing to embody. I'm embodying this energy. I'm not going to just send out a quick reminder about it. I'm just going to, you know, ease into it. And, and be kind to myself. And give this a shot. Because clearly what I'd been doing before wasn't working. I was watching a movie on Tuesday night. Went to check my email. It was like 9:30 and we got an email from Vanessa Lau, who is a Instagram business coach who I learned about through following you too. So..

Kathrin Zenkina 25:10

I love her. Yes.

Hannah Summerhill 25:11

Which was kind of crazy. And she said, Hi, you know, I'd like to sign up my entire team for your course. And I said, how many students interested? Eight students I was like, wow, I was like, we didn't even do anything. And all of a sudden, we have this whole beautiful team of eight coming in to the class. And we didn't even have to do anything. She'd found us through one of our past students who had posted about us in a Facebook group. So we never could have, you know, imagine that that's that it would be word of mouth. Or that it wouldn't come from efforting. So I cried. You know, it was one of those moments where I felt so overjoyed. And so in awe. And again, that almost like, like that feeling of being a little overwhelmed at the fact that your process really does work. And these universal laws work, and the Venessa love the course so much, she started posting about it on Instagram. And then we had to close. And say, we're sold out, which we'd never had to do. But

Kathrin Zenkina 26:17

Wow, how many students was was your guys's goal, like, what is considered a sold out class for you guys?

Hannah Summerhill 26:23

Like, we like a class of between 10 and 20. Okay, so we had 14 students. And we had already started the class that we had to say like, you know, the containers closed, come back next time. And it was incredible, it was really, really special.

Kathrin Zenkina 26:41

That is so amazing. I love that, you know, you received the download. You took inspired action, and you got rewarded for it. And that takes such a level of bravery for so many of us who are not used to trusting our intuition, not trusting those signals from the universe. To be like, "Hey, I got something really special planned out for you". But like shit cannot work out initially. In order for you to see that this, you have to take this step to open up something so much better. And so like, a lot of people get stuck in like, "Oh my God, this launch sucks. It's not working out". And like they either, you know for example, in an alternate universe, you could have just been so embarrassed that only one person sign up, refunded that person. So like, nope, there's no launch, right? And you would have taken away the opportunity for First of all, that one student who probably really needed the work that you guys, you know, provide and could have, like, completely changed their life and their business or whatever from it. And then you would have missed out on this whole opportunity to get so much amazing press around your guys' program. Because I know Vanessa Lau is not a tiny account on social media. So I love hearing these stories. And you guys like just as a, take it from Hannah. Like if you have an idea and inspire download, do something. Even when it feels really hard and like things are not working out. And you have no proof whatsoever that it's going to go your way. I promise you just like Hannah said the universal laws or certain laws that are in place, it's almost like if there was a manual for life, if there was a guidebook that we could have it is the universal laws. Like, if you just play your life, according to the universal laws, like there's so much magic that comes out of it. It's almost insane. It's almost insane. It's like there really is a book that literally tells you how to live your life; which is so awesome. There's also you know, he talked about the ripple effect. And I know you've talked a lot about how this work has also been affecting your husband. For anyone who is like in, you know, a relationship or partnership or has family members that are super close to them. I really love talking about that ripple effect. Because it's like even if we don't try just us expanding and changing and growing can impact other people. Without us being like, Hey, you need to learn this. You know, it's just like, by being the embodied version of ourselves and embodying the work we can impact other people. So can you share a little bit about like what you noticed in your husband?

H

Hannah Summerhill 29:13

Yes. I'm so blessed and grateful that my husband is extremely supportive of me because you know, sometimes I'm a little bit of a seeker you know. And he's a very kind of left brained Libra PRACTICAL GUY. you know, in the 3D. I think when I first signed up he was a little bit like you spent what? you know, and how much? Which is funny now because we've manifested so much money. Now, Kathrin, we're watching your and Brennan's Make Money Work For You masterclass. He's like, let's watch more of the of the class tonight. And I'm like, yes, awesome. So it was subtle. But I think he saw my transformation. And I was extremely transparent with him about everything that I was going through during the course. The lows and the highs, because like I said, so much was coming up for me. All the traumas, deep wounds, generational stuff.. I was crying, I didn't feel like myself, I felt lost a little bit. And he really supported me through that. And he could also see all these beautiful things that we're manifesting too. So it was, you know, I didn't try to force anything on him. Because that never works.

K

Kathrin Zenkina 30:38

Well that's the key everyone, you never force this shit. That's the key.

H

Hannah Summerhill 30:44

I let him just kind of come into the journey. And he could kind of take it or leave it. Like sometimes I would say, "Hey, I really want to share with you what I learned in the class today, or this was really powerful". And, he's been now on his own spiritual journey. So, so much of our work is now overlapping. And so many of our interests are overlapping; which is really cool to meet in the middle. So beautiful things have been happening for us too. Like things that also affect him. So for example, one day, we came home from a walk. And there was an envelope in our door from arm leasing company. And it said, due to an accounting error, we are refunding you $400 and decreasing your monthly rent by $150. effective immediately.

K

Kathrin Zenkina 31:31

Which like never happens, you guys. I remember in my last two apartments ago, because it was like a leasing management company. And oh my God, I swear to God, every month, we got a letter saying how our rent is going to keep increasing if we don't sign another lease. And we really like the month-to-month possibility of wanting to move at any moment. And just like kind of searching for the right place. But if you've been in that position, you know that it's hardly ever that they say that is accounting error, and that they're actually going to refund you money and reduce your rent. Especially living in Southern California. That just never happens.

H

Hannah Summerhill 32:06

It doesn't happen. Right? So I think can see that too. And we both got and kind of looked at each other. And we were like, we're not questioning this, this is how things get to be. This is so great. And then another moment happened where we've gone to do our taxes. And the guy at H&R block was like "you guys are probably going to oh". We're like, okay, you know, it is what it is. Taxes are inevitable. And instead, we got a massive rebate, massive rebate. So I think he was just seeing that good things are happening. And good things are coming in. And, this work is so powerful.

K

Kathrin Zenkina 32:47

Wow, I can seriously talk to you forever. But my final question is for you, because I know we're gonna have you back on the podcast. So there's plenty more opportunities to chat. Um, let's pretend for just a moment that someone you deeply care about who you know needs MBA in their life is listening to this episode. Right now, enrollment is open. They have the opportunity, but they're currently on the fence. What would you say to them? Or want them to know? Or what is some advice that you have for them to get off that fence and get inside the program?

H

I mean, okay, I cannot speak highly enough about this program. To all who are listening, I have a whole list of notes of everything that I loved about this. If you are questioning, just take this as a sign to do it and jump in. Your dream life is on the other side of this. And it is such a gift to yourself to invest in your own transformation, in your own healing in your own self love. I mean, it wasn't easy. But if I wasn't going to do it now, why, like When was I going to do it? Why wait? Why push my dream life off. And Kathrin, as a facilitator shows up, you show up so beautifully, and so grounded. And so truthfully. And what I love and appreciated about this course, too, is that you brought in women of color facilitators too. You are doing your own work, which I so appreciate as an aspiring ally myself. And the way you showed up gave me so much permission to show up authentically in my own life. And the content of this course is so rich and so deep, that your mind will be blown. I mean, I felt like you could have charged 10 times what you did. Because the the amount of material and how deep every single module was. The meditations that came with every module. The journaling, the live Q&A is, the bonus modules. You went above and beyond. You over delivered and you did it from such a beautiful place. We could all tell you gave your all to this program. We have everything that you had. And it's an incredible beautiful program that I'm going to be repeating as a grad for many years to come. I could not be more grateful for for MBA. I'm truly so please do it if you're on the fence. You will not regret it. Your life will look so beautiful after.
